WHAT WILL YOU DO IN THE AFTERMATH OF THE 7.5 EARTHQUAKE?

MILLCREEK. It's 5 AM. Ten minutes ago, you were shaken out of bed by that 7.5 earthquake we've all been warned about. The kids are freaking out and your spouse's wrist looks broken. You try 911 but the phones don't work because the networks are overloaded. You're starting to panic.

What's this? A teenager from down the street is in your kitchen extinguishing a small fire you hadn't noticed. Another is offering to bind your spouse's wrist and asks you to find a blanket. The fire out, the first teen is now gathering the kids together and calming them down. You start to feel a little less panicked.

You can also contact Tim Bachman at timothysbachman@gmail.com, Rhonda Bachman at rhondacbachman@gmail.com or Lisa Bagley, at lisahbagley@gmail.com. Many thanks to them and the many other volunteers in Millcreek who organize these programs and train our "first responders."

The house is uninhabitable. The teen helps you find your 96-hour kits and directs you to the nearby elementary school. Someone helps you settle in and locate your parents. You find out that the UFA's emergency teams are swamped and will be at the school tomorrow.

Who are these people who have been helping you? They are a part of Millcreek's Community Emergency Response Team (CERT). As volunteers, they have been trained to step into the chaos of a disaster and provide assistance until the professional responders can arrive.

To find out more, visit <https://millcreek.utah.gov/cert-in-millcreek/>. There, you can also learn about Teen CERT, which specializes in training teenagers, and about CART (Community Animal Response Team), which helps take care of pets during disasters.

If your local elementary school is a fully-functioning School Aid Families in Emergencies (S.A.F.E.) Emergency Hub, short-term shelter and family reunification will be provided, and information shared during a community disaster. (William Penn Elementary in Millcreek is the first one in Salt Lake County. Say thanks to the East Millcreek S.A.F.E. Emergency Hub Committee for making that happen!)

Millcreek resident John Kesler (in tan shirt and hat) organizes S.A.F.E. Neighborhood Emergency Hub exercise last September.

Heartfelt Thanks to Millcreek Resident John Kesler

MILLCREEK. John Kesler is the East Millcreek S.A.F.E. Neighborhood Hub Manager for William Penn Elementary School. He also recently completed his tenure as the Emergency Volunteer Coordinator for the East Mill Creek Community Council. In that capacity, John worked tirelessly with the council's Emergency Volunteer Leadership Team and CERT volunteers. We and the East Mill Creek Community Council are very grateful for services.

John is also passionate about common ground and civility. He works with the Utah Civil and Compassionate Communities (UCCC), which seeks to encourage all people in the community to be more welcoming, inclusive, caring, and compassionate. The UCCC challenges us to move beyond our individual and collective comfort zones. John hosted the UCCC booth at the Parliament of the World Religions that met in Salt Lake City in October of 2015.

John is a proud resident of Millcreek.

Results of Millcreek's Annual Garden Contest

Thanks to everyone who entered their beautiful gardens in this year's Garden Contest. There are so many lovely and well-tended gardens in Millcreek, they cannot all be mentioned. Our community council judges had a difficult time choosing the cream of the crop.

This year's winners are shown below. Millcreek Community Councilmember Diane Angus and Mayor Jeff Silvestrini awarded each winner a plaque, a gift certificate to Millcreek's own 42nd Street Greenhouse, and bragging rights.

Take some time to drive by and have a look at these beautiful offerings.

Stacy Martin, Wainwright Road - This garden includes fabulous curved stone walls and an inviting walkway to the home.

Jill & Chris Thackery, 2700 E - The Thackerys's wonderful garden has a little surprise for walkers or joggers--a drinking fountain for people and their furry friends.

Craig and Beth Allen Bouin, Lake Circle Drive - Water conservation at its best, this beautiful garden blooms with drought tolerant plants that are watered when needed from a well planned system under the ground.

VentureOut TONIGHT

COTOPAXI QUESTIVAL

BIG COTTONWOOD PARK | 4300 S. 1300 E.

JUL 28TH

6PM - TWILIGHT

What if you could spend 24-hours with your closest friends, in your favorite city, checking a bunch of amazing experiences off your bucket list? Now imagine taking part in this with hundreds and even thousands of other adventure seekers...Here's your chance!

Cotopaxi is kicking off another Questival at a unique Venture Out! Signature Event. Are you ready to jump into a pool fully clothed, challenge a stranger to a rock paper scissors match, learn to churn butter or leave little origami cranes made of dollar bills in secret places? Then Questival is for you. This 24-hour self-guided adventure is all about pushing yourself, building friendships, and strengthening community.

To participate in the full Questival experience, groups or families of two to six people must sign-up IN ADVANCE. Each racer receives event gear including a Luzon backpack and race swag. Teams compete to win trips, gear, and more. The race offers up to $10,000 in prizes!

REGISTER FOR COTOPAXI'S QUESTIVAL WITH ONLINE SEARCH: QUESTIVAL SALT LAKE CITY 2017

If you're just looking for a "mini" Questival experience then head on over to Big Cottonwood Park to participate in Venture's Questival games and challenges. Then set out your blankets or chairs to watch The Lego Batman Movie.

I-80/I-215 Lane Closures

Same lane closures as last week. UDOT's getting closer to completion, but the daily lane closures continue. You should probably avoid the westbound I-215 entrance to I-80 during the morning rush hour, and the eastbound I-80 / I-215 split and the 23rd East exit during the evening rush hour.
