STORM DRAIN REPAIRS ARE LIKE
FIXING AN OLD ROOF -- YOU BETTER
DO IT EVEN IF TIMES ARE TOUGH

MILLCREEK. The City held an open house earlier this week about needing to impose a storm drain utility fee. In a follow-up email, a resident accused us of being poor stewards of the public coffers for not already having sufficient tax revenue to pay for storm drain repairs. This resident also asked how the city was planning to budget for declining revenues as the result of the pandemic. Because others may have similar concerns, Mayor Silvestrini is sharing his response:

Hi [Resident]: Thank you for your email to [Council Member Bev Uipi] and me.

No one likes to pay more taxes or fees and we don't like to raise them. However, sometimes we have to have the courage to do what is right and in the best long-term interest of our community. Our Council believes this is one of those times. Yes, we obviously are aware of the difficulty of this decision and that we are in the midst of a pandemic which has stressed our residents and businesses. I hope you will permit me to explain our reasoning. Even if you don't like the result or disagree, I hope you understand why we believe we must do this now in the best interest of our whole city.

You point out two things in your email. One, that we should already have enough revenue to cover our storm water expenses and if we don't, that is because we have not been good stewards. Second, you wonder about our plans to tighten our belt in the face of declining revenues due to the faltering of our economy and the prospect of hard economic times.

We need more revenue to address our storm water problems due to the ever-increasing failures of our old pipes, most of which are made of corrugated steel which has rusted and disintegrated over 60 or more years of good service. Broken drains create flooding emergencies which threaten even greater damage to homes and accelerate deterioration of our streets. Every time we have to address an emergency storm pipe repair, it takes money from our road repairs. Continually deferring road repairs to fix storm drains creates even bigger expenses down the "road" when streets then have to be completely reconstructed and not just repaved because prudent maintenance was deferred.

Why can't we do this with the tax revenue we have? Are we mismanaging your tax dollars? For one thing, as you correctly note, our available funds have shrunk with the effects of the pandemic. But we still have these storm drain emergencies and we still face the prospect of even bigger bills if we don't maintain our streets. But why don't we have enough money with existing tax revenue even discounting the reduced revenue from the pandemic?

I'd like to draw an analogy from my house. When I bought my house nearly 40 years ago, it had a new roof. In fact, that's one of the reasons I bought it. My wife and I established a household budget and paid the mortgage, utilities, etc. We never had to put any money into that roof. Until over time it began to leak. We needed to fix it to prevent even more expensive damage, but our old household budget simply was not adequate to pay for a new roof. Not because of mismanagement (although maybe we should have been saving for a new roof from the beginning; government is limited in doing that, and the county frankly never did). No, our household budget was inadequate because a new problem arose which required a lot more money than our old budget allowed to be able to fix.

Millcreek is in the same situation. When our storm water pipes were new, they required little maintenance. Our taxes were calculated to handle other things, but we didn't have to spend on storm drain emergencies. Like my old household budget, we had enough. Now that we need a new "roof," Millcreek needs a new source of funding to be able to pay the bills that are still part of the old budget and also invest in a solution to our storm drain problem that will prevent us from having to pay even more if we don't get after the problem immediately.

Perhaps we were foolish not to plan for this and collect more tax revenue over the last 60 years so we would now have enough money for our new "roof." Our county didn't do that. Some would have complained about our government collecting taxes which weren't needed then, and there are also laws which prevent government from saving up money like that in such amounts. Most other cities already have this fee for storm water maintenance. They have been collecting it for years, if not decades. They have been keeping up on their problem. Other areas which, like us, have not had this fee, are considering it. That includes the MSD which provides services to the metro townships and remaining unincorporated county. So you probably would see this fee enacted even if Millcreek never became a city.

These are the reasons we as a city council believe it is our responsibility to enact a storm drain utility fee. We are happy that it's calculated based upon how much storm water a property generates, so that the burden is shared by businesses, schools, churches as well as residents. It's fairer to charge based upon how much each of these contributes to the problem. We have to fix this "roof" and we need a new funding mechanism to do it since these repairs were not a significant part of our budget before this. I hope my roof analogy is helpful.

To your question about what we are doing to plan for reduced revenues, I tried to explain that in the last paper newsletter. We are planning for a reduction of about 20% of our annual sales tax revenue, based upon estimates from many sources. We are making cuts and we have a hiring freeze (we have only 38 employees to serve a city of 63,000). We are using 1/3 of our fund balance (rainy day fund), which through fiscal prudence, we have been able to establish over the past 3 budget cycles, believing that this is a "rainy day" but not wanting to exhaust our reserves completely. The state limits the amount we can reserve for rainy days to 25% of our budget (so that's why we can't save enough to pay for a new "roof"). I am attaching a link to our tentative budget if you would like to review it. <https://millcreek.us/DocumentCenter/View/1598/Millcreek-FY-2020-21-Tentative-Budget->

I am happy to answer any further questions you have about it. Thank you for writing. I know you may not like what I have said. No one likes a tax or fee increase. But sometimes it takes courage and sacrifice to do what is in the long-term interest of our community. I am comfortable we are doing that. I hope you are well and that you are staying safe.

-Jeff

In a series of follow-up missives with the resident, the Mayor explained that "government" did not build the storm water system--it was built decades ago by developers of our subdivisions and then dedicated to the county to maintain. Neither they nor the county set aside funds to maintain the system, and for decades not much was required. Whether we became a city or not did not affect the aging system or the rate at which it has begun to rot out, or the obligation of us all, as citizens of the community, to fix the problem. (The MSD, which is responsible for infrastructure throughout the rest of what used to be unincorporated county, is also in the process of enacting a storm drain fee to address the same problem in those communities.) If we do nothing, our infrastructure will continue to degrade, which will affect our quality of life and perhaps property values throughout the city. We must address our storm sewer problems today, because they will become much more expensive to address in the future.

"I don't like this either," said the Mayor, "but this fee will cost the average Millcreek homeowner less than $109/year." Imposing a fee instead of a property tax ensures that the cost of repair and maintenance is spread across all users of the storm water system, including schools, churches, and other entities that do not pay property tax.

Millcreek is accepting applications through June 26th for two Planning Commission positions, each for a four-year term. Volunteer positions, the time commitment is one or two meetings per month plus preparation time and individual site visits.

Millcreek Main Street Improvements

MILLCREEK. Millcreek, in partnership with Utah Transit Authority (UTA), is working on improvements to Main Street from 3900 South to Big Cottonwood Creek that will improve pedestrian and cyclist safety.

The improvements include construction of pedestrian ramps, curb and gutter, and sidewalks at various locations along both the east and west sides of Main Street as well as storm drain modifications. Weather permitting, Phase 1 of the project will occur on the east side of Main Street and will start on June 22, 2020. Phase 2 will be the work required on on the west side of Main Street, and should start on July 22, 2020.

The project is funded by a Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery (TIGER) grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation, with matching funds from Millcreek and Salt Lake County.

Questions/Contact Information: John Miller, Millcreek City Public Works Director, 801-214-2719; jmiller@millcreek.us. Rubi Hernandez, Granite Construction Project Manager, 385-222-1539, rubi.hernandez@gcinc.com.

These are two possible variations of a new proposed trail in Rattlesnake Gulch in Mill Creek Canyon. The first alignment crosses several significant outcrops that would require jackhammering and/or blasting to construct. The second limits blasting but adds more switchback turns. The final alignment may be a hybrid of these proposals.

CHANGES PROPOSED FOR RATTLESNAKE GULCH TRAIL

MILLCREEK. Rattlesnake Gulch is the first trailhead reached when going up Mill Creek Canyon. It connects with the Pipeline Trail, and is heavily used by hikers, bikers and runners. The trail presents challenges to users due to severe grades -- it averages 18% over 0.7 miles, with a 28% grade at the top 500 feet of the trail. Because the trail follows the gulch, water runs directly down it, resulting in loose material, large exposed rocks and big drops. The trail is dangerous for hikers and bikers alike, with a high potential for collisions.

The Forest Service recently expanded and asphalted the trailhead and will be installing restrooms this fall. But to resolve the dangerous conditions of the trail itself, Trails Utah, in coordination with the Salt Lake Ranger District, proposes to construct a new trail with an 8% average grade over approximately 1.5 miles long, as opposed to its current 18% grade over 0.7 miles. Switchbacks would be constructed with a 4-foot to 8-foot turning radius to allow for use by intermediate and beginner bikers and increase safety for all users.

Funding is expected from a Utah Outdoor Recreation Grant, an REI Grant and additional private fundraising efforts.

The Forest Service Salt Lake Ranger District is requesting input or feedback about the proposal by the end of June. For additional information or to give feedback to the Ranger District on the proposal, please contact Zinnia Wilson at zinnia.wilson@usda.gov or 385-377-2107.

DroidForge (online)

My name is Nick Arbanas and I own a very small home business called DroidForge with my friend, JP Thomas. Our business specializes in the online sale of custom 3D printed, laser cut and CNC parts. About a month ago, we started building face shields to help protect local healthcare workers. Using GoFundMe we have raised the money needed to produce and donate about 1700 face shields. So far, we have given about 450 to health care workers 100% FREE! We have about 100 left in stock and we are excited to receive our next batch of materials to start the next build of 1200 shields.

Utah Addiction Medicine (4659 S Highland Dr)

We are a team of seven who work closely to provide medical care for people who are currently experiencing substance use disorders, or who are in recovery from them. Addiction Medicine is very rewarding. To see people find hope, to watch them heal and find freedom is incredibly rewarding. COVID has caused us to "retool" so that we can continue to support our folks through this extraordinarily difficult time. In these days of social distancing, we remain "virtually open" and are seeing new and established patients via telemedicine. While it is not the same as spending time with them in person, it is necessary and important that we remain available, albeit remotely. Our team is delighted to be part of the Millcreek community. We wish you and yours good health. Please feel free to stop in and say hello once our doors are open again. 801-852-9440; <https://www.utahaddictionmed.com/>

Utah Pet Rehab and Acupuncture (2896 E 3300 S)

As an essential business we are doing everything we can to protect you and your pet. We are only offering a drop-off service, and we sanitize after every patient. Utah Pet Rehab and Acupuncture is a state-of-the-art veterinary referral center for animal rehabilitation and acupuncture dedicated to enhancing and improving your pet's life. We work closely with your regular veterinarian to complement your pet's treatment with our rehabilitation services - including underwater treadmill, laser therapy, and home exercise programs - and/or acupuncture. Utah Pet Rehab is co-owned by Shawna McCall, a veterinarian certified in acupuncture and animal physical rehabilitation, and Pat Werner, a physical therapist and certified canine rehabilitation therapist. Business is located at 2896 E. 3300 S.

Valeo Home Health and Hospice (1376 E 3300 S)

Voted Best of State for 4 years in a row, ValeoHome Health and Hospice offers the best in care for home health and hospice needs. Our specialty programs including cardiac, pulmonary, balance, orthopedic, neurologic, diabetic, and wound care can help you manage your health and remain in the safety of your home. For those who have a loved one who no longer wants to seek curative care but would rather remain in their home with their symptoms managed, our hospice team can help provide the support and resources needed to maximize quality of life at the end of life.

Vivian Dowsett Interiors

Because we care about your health and safety, we'll do phone and virtual meetings until we can meet you in your home, which are an excellent way to begin a process of change. With most people self-isolating and working and recreating at home, this is a unique opportunity to take a closer look at how your home can become more comfortable and efficient. Perhaps a new paint color, furniture replacement or re-arrangement, better lighting or a well-organized workspace is just what's needed. Once we're able to be out and about, re-doing these elements becomes even more important because you've had time to really understand what works and what doesn't. Change can be so refreshing! Vivian Dowsett Interiors has been designing and decorating homes for over 25 years. In these more challenging times, it's so important to be living your best life in your home. Why not contact Vivian to see how, together, you can make that can happen? 801-870-7900

Wasatch Community Acupuncture (470 East 3900 South Ste. 103)

We are excited to reopen our clinic and are following all local, state, and federal Covid-19 guidelines for your safety and ours. If you are in pain, stressed, not sleeping well, suffering from allergies, or just need a "tune-up," we are here to help! Acupuncture works extremely well for a variety of different health conditions. At our nonprofit clinic, acupuncture is affordable: first treatments are $30-$55 (you decide), and subsequent treatments are $15-$40 (you decide). We're open seven days a week. Read more and book online: WasatchAcupuncture.org or call 801-364-9272.

Wasatch Events, LLC

Wasatch Events, LLC is open for service. We organize, plan and implement events and retreats. We also provide drone video/photography. <http://nonstopadventures.com/drone/>; <http://wasatchevents.com>.

Wolcott Optical Service, LC (3145 S Highland Dr)

We are back! Wolcott Optical is open again as usual: Tuesday - Friday from 9 am to 5:30 pm and on most Saturdays from 10 am to 5 pm. Per CDC guidelines and common sense, we will require that all patients wear masks into our store and practice social distancing. Please be prepared to possibly wait in your car while we assist other customers. We would prefer to not require that you make an appointment and will do our best to accommodate everyone. Please go to our Facebook page, our website www.wolcottoptical.com, or call 801-485-4474 for more information. See you soon — in your mask!

Meetings with the Mayor

Fridays from 2-4pm have been set aside for citizens to meet with Mayor Silvestrini. Please call 801-214-2700 to schedule a slot.
