CENTRAL WASATCH COMMISSION

PUBLIC COMMENT SOUGHT ON NEW DRAFT OF THE Central Wasatch National Conservation and Recreation Area Act (CWNCRA)

WASATCH FRONT. The Central Wasatch Commission has issued a new draft of the Congressional/federal legislative proposal to implement Mountain Accord. The CWNCRA has gone through five public review edits since it was originally introduced in 2016 by Congressman Jason Chaffetz. This 10/27/20 version of the bill and its accompanying summary and map is available for public review and comment. There are three documents to review:

- The 10/27/20 Draft of the CWNCRA.
- A summary of the 10/27/20 Draft CWNCRA Legislation. This describes the changes since the last public review draft, including a narrative description and an overview of the background of the CWNCRA legislation process.
- The 10/27/20 Draft Proposed Central Wasatch Conservation and Recreation Area Map.

The public comment period relating to the legislation will be open through December 5, 2020. The draft legislation will be discussed by the Central Wasatch Commission during the December 7th Board meeting.

Give Now for a Brighter Future

2020 has been devastating for so many in our community, and our commitment to create lasting change to help all kids and families succeed, regardless of their circumstances, holds true during this time.

Giving Tuesday is about small acts of generosity changing the world. On Dec. 1, help us work toward a future where everyone in our community can reach their full potential through a strong start, a good education, financial stability, and access to health care.

Help UNITED WAY build a better tomorrow.
