MILLIE MILLCREEK

The HAUNT for an eerie-sistible Halloween season is here and we want YOU to be in the know so you can get the pick of the patch for a lot of skele-fun. Check out a few of our favorite ideas:

- Have you heard of Millcreek Garden's Festival TRANSYLVANIA? It is a family friendly spook alley that goes from October 13th through October 29th (closed Tuesdays and Sundays). You won't have to worry about any gore or violence at Festival Transylvania, but you and your demons will go batty going through their fa-BOO-lous spook alley! Tickets are $7 a person on weekdays and $9 on weekends.
- If you haven't been to Millfreaks yet, you may be missing the ghostess with the mostest! Each stop of the mini road trip throughout Millcreek is geared for families and will make you feel like the "Mummy of the year." It is a $25 flat-fee for each car-group.
- Looking for something to do during the day? Milford is always DYING for the delicious pumpkin-spice bars at one of our favorite local bakeries, The Baking Hive. If you haven't tried them yet, make sure to "head" on over. They are open Wednesday to Friday from 3-6 p.m. Saturdays from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. TREAT YOURSELF!
- Not sure what to do on Halloween this year? Millcreek Common has you covered! From 5-10 p.m. on October 31st come join us for a skate party. Even if you don't skate, there will be music and performances you won't want to miss. ALL are welcome to come lift your spirits with this howlin' good time!

Hopefully this has given you a few ways to get into the season... if all else fails, you know what they say... a candy a day keeps the monsters away. Hope you have a wonderful month! May you shake, rattle, and roll this Halloween.

XOXOX

MAYOR'S MESSAGE JEFF SILVESTRINI

Why is Millcreek hosting a temporary Overflow Shelter for Unsheltered folks (again!)

This winter the former Calvin Smith Library at 810 E. 3300 South will become home to a winter overflow shelter for individuals experiencing homelessness from mid-October until April 15, 2023. This facility will not be a "walk-up" shelter like the three other Resource Centers in Salt Lake City, South Salt Lake City and

Midvale. Rather, the individuals who shelter here when it is cold outside will be selected from the population that "walks up" to one of the other shelters and then transported to Calvin Smith each evening and then back to the referring Resource Centers or some other treatment option early the next morning. Residents will not be permitted to remain at the Calvin Smith during the day unless some health issue prevents them from leaving. There will be no meals served at Calvin Smith nor treatment options at the facility. There will be on-site security at the facility as well as caseworkers in a prescribed ratio for some 100 people who will be sheltered there. Temporary bathroom trailers with shower facilities will be placed outside on the library grounds for use by the residents staying there at night.

Creating community through language

The mission of the English Skills Learning Center is to integrate and strengthen communities by breaking language and cultural barriers.

Through community partnerships, like Millcreek Promise, the ESLC provides free English classes to adult language learners, including immigrants, refugees, and U.S.-born language learners, across Salt Lake County. These classes are led and supported through volunteers, creating opportunities for new arrivals and locals alike to learn, share, and strengthen our communities together.

Many of the refugees resettling in Utah are learning to read and write for the first time in their life, as well as learning English. War, poverty, and gender- or ethnicity-based oppression mean that many have limited or interrupted formal education. To better serve those developing foundational literacy skills living in Millcreek, the English Skills Learning Center has partnered with Millcreek Promise to provide free classes at Millcreek Common. Learners in these classes receive targeted phonics instruction alongside developing the English communication skills needed to navigate everyday tasks from visiting the doctor to speaking to a cashier.

Despite this being the first experience in a formal classroom for some, all learners bring a variety of knowledge, experiences, and skills to class. Those attending this class come from Afghanistan, Eritrea, Congo, and Rwanda. For the majority, English isn't their second, or even third language! Learners in this class alone speak Tigrinya, Kunama, Italian, Arabic, Swahili, Lingala, Kinyarwanda, French, Dari, Pashto, Farsi, Spanish, and several smaller localized languages. Around 80% of those engaged in all ESLC classes are women, and the majority of learners are between 30 and 50 years old. The most important part of building instruction is taking these many intersecting identities into account, and designing curriculum that honors the languages, histories, expertises, and needs of each learner, especially those going through the confusing and frustrating refugee resettlement process here in Utah.

Since beginning in February of 2022 through the end of July, the ESLC has provided 479 hours of classroom instruction in partnership with Millcreek Promise alone! There are more classes all around Salt Lake Valley, with offerings continually increasing to meet pre-pandemic numbers. You can help make Millcreek a community where all voices are celebrated by volunteering, donating, or engaging with the ESLC!

My time as an English instructor with the English Skills Learning Center has been great. I've really enjoyed the camaraderie in this group. Everyone is so encouraging and supportive of each other. All of the students are so motivated. Learning another language is really hard and having a supporting environment where students can practice in a safe space has been wonderful to see.

STEPHANIE OBLAD, TEACHER

This class is good. I like learning, I like reading and talking. I've lived here a long time, but English is very difficult for me. I need more English for citizenship and a good job. I like coming here.

AGNESE, LEARNER

I like English class. Everybody is talking, is happy. We are learning together. People are very nice. I come with my wife, she is learning. We practice together. Maybe next year we can apply for Citizenship

Don't wait for fall to finish before picking up leaves.

Compost, mulch, or bag autumn leaves as they fall!

It's that time of year when the weather is cooling off and the leaves are dropping from trees. To protect our water quality, we need to deal with the leaves as soon as possible.

It's important to compost, mulch or rake and bag the leaves before they end up in the gutter and block the storm drains. Especially if the weather has a wet-dry-wet-dry pattern, the leaves create a solid mat or mass over the storm drains and severely or completely block the flow of stormwater. If this happens to a storm drain by your home, grab a rake and clear the leaves and debris away!

Also, dry leaves on the ground absorb all kinds of pollution, such as pesticides, fertilizers, and bacteria from pet waste, and if they blow into the street, they absorb oils and other leaking auto fluids. Additionally, the leaves themselves carry a supply of nitrogen and phosphorus to the waterbodies fed by the storm drains, causing an overgrowth of aquatic plants and making the water VERY contaminated and dangerous to human and aquatic life through a process called eutrophication—the source of algal blooms and green/black slimy water.

FALL LEAVES TIPS:

1. Make clean-up easier by mowing leaves into your lawn—Try mulching leaves into your lawn with a mower to tackle leaves even faster. A mulching mower works best, but you can also try a normal mower at the highest blade setting. Mulching the leaves breaks them into small pieces that will fertilize your lawn as they decompose.

2. Use leaves as a resource—In addition to mulching leaves with a mower to fertilize your grass, you can also add mulched leaves to landscaping or compost leaves along with other yard waste and food scraps.

3. Keep leaves out of streets and storm drains—Leaves in the streets make flooding more likely. Leaves tend to collect in storm drains and block stormwater from exiting the street. A moderate or heavy rainfall can cause a backup of water when storm drains are not clear. To avoid flooding in our neighborhood, rake up leaves and sweep leaves off the street and storm drain, especially before forecasted rainfall.

4. Bag your leaves and take them to the containers provided at several of our local parks—Check the Wasatch Front Waste and Recycling website, wasatchfrontwaste.org, for the location nearest you.

Following these tips will help us to all have healthy neighborhoods, yards, streams, and ponds this fall!

How Festival Transylvania came to be

When Chad Evans, a Holladay resident, started his backyard Spook Alley 10 years ago, it began purely as a hobby. "I've been somewhat of a 'Backyard Haunter' for most of my life," he says.

Chad and his family have set up a Transylvania-themed spook alley for their neighbors every year for the past decade, but there came a point where their ambitions and the popularity of the event outgrew their backyard.

"I started thinking how can I take this style of event—family-friendly, neighborhood-focused, inexpensive—and take it to a commercial level?" says Chad. "So, I started brainstorming and approaching a few local businesses, eventually approaching Millcreek Gardens a few years ago, and they latched onto the idea immediately."

Chad has no formal background in event planning, but in his own words, "enjoys creating and likes bringing people together." With a passion for Halloween and the partnership of Millcreek Gardens, Festival Transylvania was born.

"The purpose," says Chad, "is to offer an alternative to popular Halloween attractions, which are sometimes not child-friendly or are expensive."

This year, the Festival Transylvania at Millcreek Gardens will be in its third season. Festival Transylvania is an immersive experience that's fun for all ages (including adults who are children at heart). At the Festival, attendees can wander through a hay maze, pose for photo opportunities, and wind their way through a spook alley fairy tale walk where travelers become part of the story, and meet some of their favorite Halloween characters along the way. Oh, and don't forget to stop by the Spooky Hollow Munchery for a variety of ghoulish treats!

"Everyone is welcome to the Festival Transylvania," says Chad. "Our event is happy, silly, fun, mysterious, and spooky in the best ways."

Festival Transylvania is located at Millcreek Gardens (3500 S 900 E) and is open October 13th – 29th. Closed Sundays and Tuesdays. $7 on weekdays, $9 on weekends, and children under 2 are free! You can buy your tickets now at MillcreekGardens.com/festival-transylvania/.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL ELECTIONS Q&A

WHO SHOULD VOTE?

Voting is open to all registered voters residing in Millcreek.

WHO ARE THE CANDIDATES?

Your neighbors! All Community Council board members are volunteers and must reside in their council area.

WHEN SHOULD I VOTE?

Voting for Community Council board members is now open—all ballots need to be postmarked by November 8 or dropped off at the City offices by close of business at 5 pm on November 8.

WHAT IS A COMMUNITY COUNCIL AND WHY SHOULD I VOTE?

Community Councils are the “grassroots” representatives for your neighborhood. These representatives recommend policies to Millcreek on important issues that affect your neighborhood and day to day life such as planning and zoning matters, capital improvement requests (e.g. new sidewalks or which streets should be repaired) and many other items. The Mayor and Millcreek City Council members attend each community council meeting and carefully consider these recommendations in their deliberations.

WHAT ELSE DOES A COMMUNITY COUNCIL DO?

If you have enjoyed an exciting Luau at Big Cottonwood Park, participated in the Garden or Holiday Contests, or beautification and cleanup activities in Mt. Olympus area, and seen Canyon Rim Cares (day of service), you have enjoyed an event the community councils have sponsored in past years.

Whether your concerns center on zoning, safety, health or other issues, the community council is the place to start working on a solution.

These councils submit an annual list of their municipal priorities to the Millcreek City Council where they are reviewed for possible inclusion in the budget or as a policy. Community councils play an important role in promoting the well-being of their local neighborhoods, developing community spirit and informing the residents about matters of public concern. They always act in a non-political and non-sectarian way. The council in each community actively participates in assessing the needs in their area through public meetings held every month. Private residents, groups, local businesses and developers can attend the meetings, make proposals to the council, or just hear what’s going on in their community. Special meetings can also be called to assess the views on a specific item.

HOW DO I KNOW WHICH COMMUNITY COUNCIL REPRESENTS ME?

If you are not sure which of the four Community Councils within Millcreek represents your area, please look at the map on page 7. Community Council areas are not the same as the City Council Districts which are not shown on this map.

GET INVOLVED AND GET MORE INFO

Please take a minute to sign up online for community email notifications, meeting agendas and special event info at Millcreek.us. If you have questions about the community council elections, please contact Nancy Carlson-Gotts at 801-502-2167.

Open space is what first attracted us to Canyon Rim. We worked with Obert Tanner 45 years ago to help create Tanner Park. I currently serve on the CRCA Parks Committee. For 35 years I've been a Travel Consultant at Murdock Travel. I bring an historic perspective to board discussions and a sense of continuity and connection to the values of our neighborhood.

City hall construction is right on schedule

Public market food options to be announced.

In today's crazy construction environment, Millcreek leaders are impressed with Okland Construction's ability to keep City Hall construction on schedule. "They're doing a great job in a tremendously difficult environment," said Councilwoman Cheri Jackson. "Between labor shortages and long lead times for key supplies, we really appreciate Okland pulling out all the stops to keep us on track," she said. With the current City Hall lease up next summer, being able to be into the new location by then is critical.

"The new Millcreek City Hall building is nearing its full stature with the first deck of the building nearing concrete completion, reported Okland's Project Manager Jayson Pemberton. "From the adjacent Millcreek Common the formwork for deck two is now visible as are the concrete columns that will support that deck. The final lifts of core walls (i.e., elevator shaft and stairs) now have formwork in place showing the overall height of the building."

Meanwhile, city leaders are reviewing proposals sent in for potential operators of the ground floor café and restaurant. "The café needs to be a coffee shop with a great product, experience in diverse retail environments, and local ties," said Councilwoman Silvia Catten, who sits on the Selection Committee. "I'm excited about the strong proposals we are looking at and can't wait to make a public announcement soon!" she said.

"The restaurant has to also be something very unique, local, and delicious," said Councilman Thom DeSirant, also on the Selection Committee. "This will be more of a concept kitchen space, so we are looking for a talented food entrepreneur who can bring something unique to Millcreek Common," he said.

Great food choices adjacent to the city's new town square already include timeless favorites like Tres Hombres, Crown Burgers and The Kathmandu, as well as newcomers Baya Bar, Boomerang's Down Under Bar, and Pizza Nono (coming soon). The café and restaurant in the Public Market on the ground floor of the new City Hall will be a welcome compliment to the city center.

The Church, the Crown, and Highland Drive

Just what will happen to the church building on highland drive?

Earlier this year, the Wilford Ward of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints moved their congregation into the meetinghouse on the corner of Gregson Avenue and Kenwood Street. The Church then sold the vacant building to Millcreek in June for the public purpose of relocating a natural gas utility need, and on the condition that the structure is demolished within six months of purchase. The Latter-day Saints did not want to see former sacred space desecrated in any sort of reuse and made this a condition of the sale.

They were great community partners to sell the property to the city.

Once the building is demolished this fall, the city intends to use the southern end of the property, abutting the Storage House self-storage facility, for a relocated natural gas regulator station. Dominion Energy operates a current regulator station for the Highland Drive corridor west of SLC Strength & Conditioning and east of Millcreek Common. That antiquated facility will be replaced at Dominion's expense by a new one on the old church property.

The large remainder of the former church property has options. The city has invited Crown Burgers to purchase the property so that they can move across the street to a new location with a newer building, plenty of parking, and better vehicular circulation. Out of deference to the long established and beloved Millcreek business Crown Burgers, they have the first option. Both parties are exploring what it would take to do that. If Crown Burgers chooses to move, it would be entirely their choice to do so. City planners insist that in such a case, traffic from the new Crown Burgers would only enter and exit off of Highland Drive, with no direct access into the Woodland Avenue neighborhood.

Should Crown Burgers decide not to move to the old church site, city leaders plan to surplus the property and sell it to another business or use that would fit in well with the Highland Drive corridor. Stay tuned for exciting city center updates in future newsletters!

We offer predominantly men's services, as well as children services. Design work and short-to-medium women's services we also love to perform. ### Headcovers by Joni Congratulations, Headcovers by Joni, for being Millcreek's May Business of the Month! Thank you for all you do, and the mayor's makeover! Read more about them below.

"Headcovers by Joni has been serving the Millcreek Community for 21 years. We help those who are suffering from hair loss, as well as the LGBTQ+ community. What sets us apart is our service to our customer. We educate them on the differences between each wig, topper or hair piece, find the perfect style and color, and then we customize each piece for the individual with cutting and styling. We want to give each and every customer the best experience possible when they are in our shop.

Every year, we donate wigs to cancer societies and rehabilitation centers. Last year, we were able to donate over 100 brand new wigs to Cancer Rehabilitation Center in Sandy. We are a registered salon with Wigs for Kids. We measure their head for wig fitting, help them select their color, and customize their wig for them when it comes in!"

Gurkhas Indian and Nepali Cuisine

Congratulations, Gurkhas, for being named Millcreek's June Business of the Month! Check out their business anytime you're in the mood for delicious, high-quality Indian and Nepali food. Read more about them below!

"Gurkhas Indian and Nepali Cuisine started serving Millcreek in August 2018. This restaurant had an ownership change since last year (August 2021). Now three brothers (BINOD, BIKASH and DIPAK) own Gurkhas and are working hard to keep the typical tastes of Indian and Nepali dishes with the new recipes.

Before owning this restaurant, we three brothers were employees of Gurkhas. Gurkhas now serves a lunch buffet EVERYDAY as well as a lunch and dinner menu. We are located at 3025 East 3300 South in Millcreek."

Do you question some zoning and codes? Give us your input soon.

Millcreek is updating our zoning and subdivision codes. This is the first holistic update since the city was formed, and some of the existing code dates back to Salt Lake County regulations that were adopted at the time of incorporation. This code regulates everything from parking to land uses and setbacks and determines the sort of development we see in Millcreek. The new code is a critical step in implementing the Millcreek Together General Plan that was adopted in 2019 and will help Millcreek meet the goals and objectives of that plan such as creating vibrant gathering spaces and building a healthy and sustainable community.

The new code would be incomplete without hearing from the community, and now is your last chance to participate in the initial questionnaire. Right now, through mid-October, this questionnaire is available on the Millcreek Together Code Update website. The survey takes approximately 10 minutes and will be used to help develop major priorities for the new code. Your input is very important, and we need to hear from as many Millcreek residents as possible. You can scan the QR code or visit the Millcreek Together Code Update webpage at millcreek.us/466/Zoning-Code-Update. Future polls and events will be ongoing throughout the process, but let us know your thoughts before the initial questionnaire closes.

state homeless mitigation fund to pay for extra police patrols of the neighborhood and clean-up of the facility and the surrounding neighborhood, should that ever become necessary. Millcreek intends to hire additional officers to ensure we have the police resources to conduct foot or bicycle patrols in the surrounding neighborhood to strictly enforce no camping and trespassing laws. There will be a zero-tolerance policy for camping in the vicinity of this shelter.

Why was this facility in Millcreek selected for this use and why was there not more public engagement before this decision was made? The answers lie in the provisions of a new state law enacted in 2022 which established a procedure whereby the mayors of all cities and townships in Salt Lake County were mandated to select a winter-overflow location for this coming winter. This law became effective on May 4. During this summer, nearly every city in our county put forward one or more potential shelter sites for a total of about 20 locations. The mayors, with the assistance of shelter operators and service providers comprising the Coalition to End Homelessness began a several months-long process, including establishing criteria for a good location and facility and evaluating each location. After the facilities were rated, owners were contacted to determine their willingness to rent their facilities for the 200-day term of the shelter need. Most owners declined either due to the short-term nature of the rental or concern about hosting a shelter. In the end, Calvin Smith was the last facility standing. It was available because it was a government-owned property, and it was vacant.

It's not completely ideal. It's smaller than the need, so the other Resource Centers in SLC, SSLC and Midvale will be "flexed" to accommodate additional residents (also not ideal, but necessary under the circumstances). The mayors' recommendation was not known until mid-August and the state did not formally indicate it would be selected until September 1. As soon as Millcreek learned of the mayors' recommendation and before the state made it official, we mailed notice to residents and businesses located within 600 feet of the shelter and scheduled a neighborhood meeting at the facility. To have started any public process before this might have caused unnecessary concern and arguably every city in the county which submitted a proposed site or sites would have done the same, without knowing what site(s) might be selected. Additionally, we were still in the process of negotiating operating ground rules and would have been unable to answer many questions before the site was actually selected.

Why should Millcreek be willing to host this facility? Didn't we already do this two years ago in the winter of 2020-2021? Yes, we did host a similar facility located about a block east of the Calvin Smith at 950 East 3300 South. We did so under similar ground rules as we have been able to negotiate this year and the operator of Calvin Smith will be the same as two years ago. UPD Millcreek Precinct only received one call for service at the former facility. In Millcreek, we know we can manage this facility successfully with our partners, because we did it before. We will take even more precautions using the state mitigation fund dollars to ensure the surrounding neighborhood and businesses are protected.

Finally, homelessness is a problem we would all like to solve. It's really a human tragedy. We don't like campers in our public spaces and our yards. We don't like the panhandling, or the crime associated with unsheltered folks trying to feed their bad habits by committing vehicle burglaries and such. But a shelter is the humane thing to do. I know Millcreek residents do not want people getting ill or freezing to death on our streets this winter. And getting these people into shelters is often the path to connecting them with case workers, housing, treatment, and job re-training options which are the only way to solve this human tragedy.

Homelessness is not just a Salt Lake City problem. It's a Utah problem and it's a Millcreek problem. Only if everyone is willing to pull together and do the hard work—yes, be willing to host a shelter—can we hope to make a difference in helping people recover their lives and escape homelessness. I know this is hard. No one wants a shelter nearby. But I trust you will support our city doing its part and doing the only humane thing this winter.
