Community Engagement, has advised that Millcreek has been awarded a Cultural Capital Grant of $150,000. “We are very pleased to help support this innovative project,” she said.

With 8,000 square feet of space, the Millcreek Public Market will occupy the entire ground floor of the new city hall with great interface with the adjacent Millcreek Common. It will have a mini-food hall featuring Kafe Mamai and a local coffee shop, along with plenty of open indoor space to host holiday markets, refugee craft fairs, art shows, summer produce markets, and more.

“This is an exciting opportunity to incubate nascent entrepreneurs,” said Moira Gray, with Millcreek’s Economic Development Department. “We’re looking forward to a fun variety of vendors coming to our community.”
