Along with Cheri, District 1 Councilmember Silvia Catten and I are embarking on new four-year terms. Our entire council is remarkable for its collaborative approach to governing your city. The mutual respect and fondness we share for each other benefits our residents and our staff by enabling us to work out policy differences when we have them and avoid the destructive conflict we see in other councils around our state.

Our preservation of a culture of mutual respect has enabled our city to make impressive strides and signature achievements, from preserving open space on our east bench, to creating a Millcreek-side trail on the Jordan River, improving our major streets, modernizing our codes, and coping with the extensive construction and redevelopment boom seen across our city and our state given Utah's strong economy and nation-leading population growth.

I know I share an enthusiasm with our council to continue our progress over the next four years. Cheri, Silvia and I, along with Thom Desirant (D2) and Bev Uipi (D4), express our appreciation for your trust and confidence in us.

Jeff Silvestrini, Mayor
